CARE FOR YOUNG CANCER SURVIVORS MILESTONES AND THE BELLIC Through Mutual Helping for Communities

Background:
Young cancer survivors (YCS) are a growing population of cancer survivors who have unique needs and challenges. They are often young adults who have just entered the workforce and are starting to build their lives. They may face physical, emotional, and social challenges that are different from those of older cancer survivors.

Objectives:
1. To provide a safe and supportive space for YCS to share their experiences and challenges.
2. To provide YCS with information and resources to help them manage their health and well-being.
3. To provide YCS with opportunities to connect with others who have similar experiences and challenges.

Activities:
1. Mutual Helping for Communities (MHC) meetings: Regular meetings where YCS can share their experiences and challenges, and provide support to each other.
2. Support groups: Groups of YCS who meet regularly to discuss their concerns and provide support to each other.
3. Educational sessions: Sessions where YCS can learn about various topics related to cancer, such as physical health, emotional health, and social support.

Outcomes:
1. Increased knowledge and understanding of cancer and its effects.
2. Improved emotional and social support for YCS.
3. Increased awareness of YCS among healthcare providers and the general public.
